When you're the host and friends gather at your home for social relaxation, pay them the compliment of serving true quality beverages.

Good wines, liquors, and beers are not necessarily the highest priced, nor packed in the fanciest wrappings. The key to quality in our line lies in the name of the distillery or winery making the product. You'll find our shelves at the well-stocked with those brands whose makers are established, through years of customer approval, as leaders in their fields.

We carry a full line of liquors, wines, beers, mixers and tobaccos for your home hospitality needs.

SAFEWAY Homemakers' Guide

Ways to Make Your Meat Go Farther

Making that quota of meat stretch to take care of all those meals is a new experience for most homemakers. At first it may seem like quite a problem. But when you consider that there are so many ways to make that portion of meat go a little further without loss of taste appeal or sacrifice of nourishment, then it doesn't seem to be such a problem after all.

Supplementing Meats with other protein foods is one of the easiest ways of adhering to the quota. Try serving a half a portion of meat, and adding some other protein food such as cheese, eggs, beans, whole grain cereals, pastes or nuts. Nutritionally speaking, you've sacrificed nothing. As for satisfyingly good meals, your family will welcome the change.

MEAT SHORTCAKE — Combine small pieces of precooked meat, any kind is right, in gravy made from drippings or in a cream sauce that has been spiked with a dash of meat sauce. Serve it over piping hot biscuits made from enriched flour. Try it over mashed or baked potatoes or steamed rice, too. It's a way to stretch a little bit of meat a long, long way. And to make the meat go still further, add grated or cubed cheese or chopped, hard-cooked eggs to the sauce. It's got lip-smacking goodness.

PASTES TO THE RESCUE — Combine meats with noodles, spaghetti, macaroni, or one of the other pastes in casserole dishes to make a little go a long way. Any kind of meat including vitamin-rich liver, heart and kidney can be used.

CHILI—No doubt about it, chili is a hearty dish. If you've been used to making it using only beef as the meat, then change your style and use any of the other meats or fowl that are available. Not much is needed because the beans contribute a share of the protein.

RICE CASSEROLES—A little meat goes twice as far when fixed in rice dishes. Cheese, rice and meat are a happy combination, and there's rib-sticking qualities there, too.

THE SOUP POT—Grandmother had one on the stove all the time. Into it went every bone, meat trimming or stray piece of leftover meat. The result was a rich soup stock. Try it. It's a meat conservation idea that will carry your family meat program through another day at least. For body, toss in a few beans, vegetables or noodles. Or make the soup with dumplings. It will turn out to be a main course soup hearty enough to supply that needed energy.

NEW ISSUE OF THE FAMILY CIRCLE EVERY TUESDAY

Uncle Sam Wants You Strong

A working knowledge of NUTRITION is a "must" these war days

War times have made it difficult to plan a meal without slighting some of the vitamins, minerals or other foods essential for a balanced diet. But if you know your foods and what each contributes to the daily needs, then supplementing the menu becomes a pleasant game.

To help you with your many wartime meal planning problems Julia Lee Wright has prepared a "Kitchen Course in Nutrition." Besides taking nutrition out of the technical class and making it interesting and usable in the kitchen, this correspondence course in nutrition shows you how to check your daily meals so that you can be sure, regardless of rationing, that your family is getting its full quota of food essentials.

There's everything you need to know in the ten lessons, that are mailed weekly, for ease in studying . . . 100 pages in all. Send for your course today, and enclose 25c for the cost of mailing. You'll find it valuable day in and day out.

This is the official declaration which consumers will be required to fill out before they receive War Ration Book Two. To save time at registration, every applicant should clip this declaration out, fill in the answers, and bring it with them to the registration site.

OUR REPRESENTATIVE REPORTS FROM CAPITOL

The serious problem of meat supply for the Pacific coast, and a critical labor situation, which threatens to tie up every ship-building plant on the Pacific coast, held the vital concern of the California delegation in Congress, this week, according to Congressman Jack Anderson, who represents this district in the House of Representatives.

In a recent message from Washington, Congressman Anderson said the meat situation so far as Washington is concerned is a "mess." He declared the entire California delegation was just a little "slap-happy" from the "run-around" members are getting from the Office of Price Administration, where, he adds, less is known about the problem than anywhere.

"As an example of what we are up against," the Congressman reported, "at a meeting the other day of the sub-committee trying to find an answer to the problem, there were seven so-called experts on the meat problem present from O. P. A. When the seven were asked how many ever had had any previous experience in this field, one raised his hand. This is an example of what the Congress faces with the bureaucratic dictatorship now riding high in Washington.

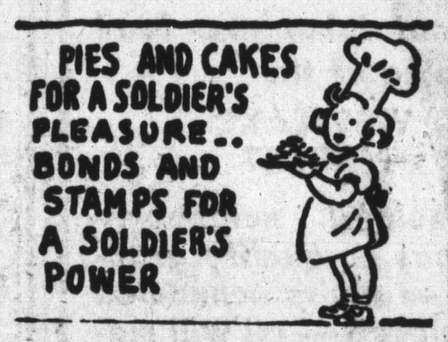
"We were told last Fall that meat rationing would become effective on January 1, now we are told it will not be until April, and perhaps even later than that. Statistics show there is ample supply of meat for all uses with some curtailing, but the only reasons for the present shortage on the Pacific coast are gross mismanagement and poor administration on the part of those bureaux charged with meat control. The Congress will take drastic steps very soon, unless the administration's bureaux cut the red tape and get down to business. Government bureaux are filled to running over with professors of this, that and the other thing. What we need are a few practical men, and we intend to get them."

Congressman Anderson says he is in receipt of a letter from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, San Mateo Local 617, in which the union charges acts of the National Labor Relations board threaten to disrupt working agreements now in effect in every shipyard on the Pacific coast. The Brotherhood, an A. F. of L. affiliate, charges the NLRB seeks now to force an election among electrical workers on the Pacific coast to determine whether the A. F. of L. or the C. I. O. shall be the bargaining unit, after the A. F. of L. affiliate has a working agreement in effect, which has done more to promote efficiency in shipyards than any other labor document.

"The letter I received," Anderson reports, "points out that the brotherhood has entered into agreement with all parties concerned in the ship-building program which covers the entire coast, the only one of its kind in existence. The brotherhood points to the fine contribution it has made to the war effort, even to the point of accepting less wages than those agreed upon, in an effort to stave off inflation.

"Now comes the NLRB, the brotherhood charges, and seeks to throw all the good work accomplished overboard by holding an election for a new bargaining unit. This seems silly to me, but no more so than the actions of some of the other bureaux we have to contend with in this war effort.

"In closing the brotherhood informs me if the NLRB insists on calling this election, the brotherhood will withdraw its pledge that there will be no stoppage of work on its part of the war program. This is one of the most serious threats yet to our defense industry, and from the evidence before me now the blame rests squarely on the shoulders of the NLRB. A few more government bureaux like some we have now, and a little more red tape, and perhaps we should call our boys home from the battle fronts, and see what bureaucracy can do toward winning the war. We can well imagine!"



Daly City Theatre Now Showing Ginger Rogers Film

New Movie Fare Offers Many Hilarious Episodes

"THE MAJOR & THE MINOR"

If ever there was a picture to put one in high humor, it is Paramount's engaging comedy, "The Major and the Minor," which opens at the Daly City theatre tonight with Ray Milland and Ginger Rogers in the title roles.

The sight of vivacious, exciting Miss Rogers masquerading as a pig-tailed twelve-year-old and in one scene even pretending to be her own mother, is really hilarious screen fare. The masquerade started with Ginger's determination to leave New York and return to her home town in Iowa. Not having enough money to take her there, the resourceful Ginger makes a few changes in her clothes and hairdo and buys herself a half-fare-ticket. The conductors aren't convinced she's only twelve years old, so Ginger, instead of fighting it out, hides out in Ray Milland's compartment.

The Major — Ray Milland, of course—is on his way back to his teaching post in a military academy. He's very nice to the little girl, even gives up his lower berth to her. But when his fiancee, Rita Johnson, surprises him at a station enroute and finds a night-gowned female in his compartment, she doesn't stop to listen to explanations.

Milland pleads with Ginger to accompany him to the academy so everyone can see she's not a siren, but just a harmless little twelve-year-old.

Everyone in the cast delivers a corking performance, and "everyone" includes Rita Johnson, Robert Benchley, Diana Lynn and Ginger's mother, Lela Rogers, who plays her mother in the film.

CANNED FOODS

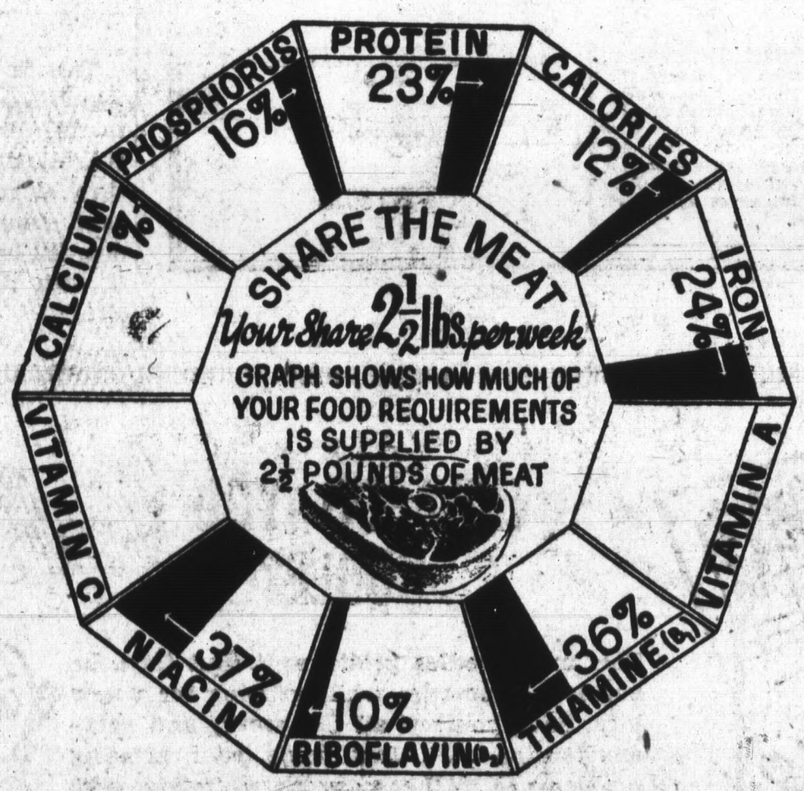
All sale of canned or bottled fruits, vegetables and juices is banned for next week. This means the housewife must prepare this week for that period, and also see that the five cans per person in the household (allowable when rationing becomes effective) are on hand. Despite buying difficulties in past weeks, our stocks of these important foods are still complete for your selection.

FROSTED FOODS

Every day, more Daly City families are learning that our Frosted Foods department can be of great aid in their food supply problem. Harvested in peak season, these fruits and vegetables are "in season" the year around, and made available to you in their best form. Eliminate waste and save time and money by getting your fresh fruits and vegetables this convenient way.

CITRUS SPECIALS

Especially high quality and especially low prices—these are featured each week in the large fancy navel oranges and grapefruit we bring direct from the growers. Watch for the money-saving bargains in these healthful items we offer weekly.



Any change in the meat share would reduce or increase the above percentages proportionately.

Variety meats (liver, heart, kidney, etc.) are not restricted. Each serving of these meats added to your 2½-lb. weekly share of restricted meats will increase the above percentages about as follows: Calories 1%, protein 3%, phosphorus 2½%, iron 8%, vitamin A 14%, thiamine 2½%, riboflavin 8%, niacin 7%, vitamin C 1½%.
